A Digital Video Recorder (DVR) is a great tool for managing and securing your locations. A DVR lets you record video from your cameras onto a hard drive for historical review as well as live viewing. A DVR connected to a router will allow you to view your facilities from any computer in the world.

There are different options when choosing a DVR, there are embedded types and there are PC based types, each type of DVR has its advantages and disadvantages. When choosing a DVR make sure to consult with the experts at Securitystores.com.
